American Gaming Association Releases Guide to Combat Human Trafficking in Gaming

In a recent press release, the American Gaming Association (“AGA”) announced the release of a guide to combat human trafficking within the gaming industry. Preventing and Combating Human Trafficking in the Gaming Industry is the first step of its newly founded Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force.

“Today’s announcement marks the first step in the task force’s ongoing work to enhance the gaming industry’s anti-trafficking efforts,” said Alex Costello, AGA’s vice president, government relations. “While many gaming companies already have robust anti-human trafficking policies, this guide will serve as an essential tool for the industry to assess and strengthen its current protocols.”

The guide builds on efforts by hospitality and nonprofit partners with the U.S. Departments of Homeland Security, Justice, and Treasury. This guide will serve to help direct the gaming industry on applying anti-human trafficking practices such as:

- Educating individuals on what constitutes human trafficking, its risks to the gaming industry, and how to intervene.
- Empowering gaming employees to act when they notice human trafficking.
- Preventing human trafficking from occurring at—or being facilitated through—gaming operations.
- Addressing the specific needs of gaming executives as they institute anti-trafficking policies.
- Protecting patrons and employees from human trafficking.

Additionally, the guide addresses areas including sex trafficking and forced labor; state and federal anti-trafficking laws and enforcement; anti-money laundering measures; trafficking myths and realities; and best practices for preventing, spotting, and responding to trafficking at commercial and tribal gaming operations.

Members of the AGA actively apply anti-trafficking practices, including training employees, displaying proper signage, working with law enforcement, and partnering with shelters and nonprofits.

AGA President and CEO Bill Miller said, “The AGA, our members, and the entire gaming industry are committed to stamping out all forms of human trafficking. Further, Through the Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force, we will continue to bring the industry together to defeat this evil and pervasive human rights offense.”

Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force is comprised of executives of AGA member organizations with expertise in anti-money laundering compliance, legal and other specialized sectors of the gaming industry, hospitality, and security and plans to continue advancing anti-human trafficking efforts over the coming months.

Pokagon Band of Potawatomi and Its Four Winds Casinos Announce Beneficiary of 2022 Four Winds Invitational at Media Day

The Pokagon Band of Potawatomi Indians and its Four Winds Casinos announced that they hosted a media day at South Bend Country Club as part of the buildup to the 2022 Four Winds Invitational. At the media day, they named Beacon Children’s Hospital as the tournament’s beneficiary. Jen Tonkovich, Director of Women and Children’s Services for Beacon Health System, said, “We would like to thank the Pokagon Band, its Four Winds Casinos, and all of the sponsors for their continued generous support over the years.

Receiving the proceeds from the Four Winds Invitational has not only helped us better serve children and families in the region, but also help us plan for the future in ways we can continue to improve our quality of care. This year’s contribution will complete the purchase of the Quad Cab NICU Transport we announced in 2021.”

“The Pokagon Band and our Four Winds Casinos are very proud of our longtime sponsorship of the Four Winds Invitational, which has generated close to $800,000 in proceeds for Beacon Health System and Beacon Children’s Hospital over the last 10 years,” said Rebecca Richards, Tribal Chairwoman for the Pokagon Band of Potawatomi. “We are looking forward to the 11th edition of the tournament this year and appreciate the continued support from the South Bend community, including our sponsors, vendors, volunteers, team members, as well as our partners, the LPGA Epon Tour and South Bend Country Club.”
